It’s your commute…
What do you want it to look like?

How will you – and the other 1 million people forecast to live in Ada and Canyon Counties by the year 2040 – get from “here” to “there”?

Our transportation system – our roads, buses, biking and walking paths, and more – will need significant improvements to accommodate all of those people, but we don’t have a lot of money.

In fact, money is so tight that the plan is to use all federal transportation funding to pay for maintenance – not for improvements to accommodate the expected growth.

If the funding situation changes, and we are able to expand our transportation system, what are your priorities? Should we widen roads? If so, which ones? Do we need more bus service or park-and-ride lots? What about sidewalks and bike lanes?

The Community Planning Association (COMPASS) is wrapping up a regional long-range transportation plan to look to the year 2040 (Communities in Motion 2040). Take time to learn more and share your views during the final public comment period in March/April 2014, before final decisions are made.
